DETAILED ACTION

Amendment

1. Receipt is acknowledged of the amendment filed on March 24, 2004. In the amendment
5 claims 1, 2, 4, and 30-36 are withdrawn as being drawn to a non-elected group, and claims 16 and 23 were amended. Currently, claims 16-29, and 37-44 remain for examination.

Obviousness-Type Double Patenting

10 2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759
F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163
15 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

20 Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer.
A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 16-29 and 37-44 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousnesstype double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-72 of US Patent 6,149,062 to 25 Danielson et al. (hereinafter '062 patent).

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, it is the Examiner's view that they are not patentably distinct from each other.

In claim 16 of the instant application, the Applicant claims "A data processing system, comprising: (a) a data processing assembly including an interface unit; and (b) a detachable 30 reader unit detachably assembled with said interface unit; (c) said detachable reader unit comprising a non-contact data reader to read data disposed in non-contact relationship to said reader unit; wherein said data processing assembly is portable and wherein said detachable reader unit dose not extend said data processing assembly's width or length when attached thereto.” Claim 1 of ‘062 patent recites “A hand-held data collection system, comprising: (a) a 5 base unit, of size to be held in one hand during data collection, said base unit comprising a user interface; and b) a detachable reader unit, capable of being coupled with said base unit, said reader unit comprising a non-contact data reader reading data disposed in non-contacting relationship to said reader unit, said reader unit further comprising an energy source.” They essentially claim virtually identical apparatus – a hand-held data collection system. Examiner 10 carefully considered amended claim 16 in view of the ‘062 patent. Although claim 16 of the instant application specifically describes size aspect of the data processing assembly in relation to the detachable data reader, it is obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to design the assembly so that the assembly as a whole would have a shape of one unit. Moreover, it is the Examiner’s view that size and/or shape limitation alone would not considered a patentable element unless 15 Applicant discloses why the amended limitation is patentable. For example, Applicant is respectfully requested to point out in the specification (particularly in summary of invention section) where such limitation is disclosed. An attempt to merely overcome the cited references would be a hindsight approach by the Applicant.

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to 20 overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

5 A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
10 (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 16-29 and 37-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sherman et al. (US 5,347,115, hereinafter “Sherman”).

15 Re claims 16, 20-23, 27-30, and 34-41, Sherman teaches a portable data collection apparatus (see figure 1 and 4) comprising a hand-held scanner 70 and a cradle member 56 (col. 4, lines 48+; col. 6, lines 25+). As shown generally in figures 1-6, the data processing assembly (comprising a data collector and a base unit) are similar in size, and the reader does not extend the cradle.

20 Re claims 17, 24, and 31, the data collector 70 is comprised of a display 28 and a keyboard 29 (col. 4, lines 62+).

Re claims 18, 19, 25, 26, 32, 33, 43, and 44, the scanner, reading barcodes, generates and a light beam (col. 5, lines 34-48).

25 Re claim 42, the system or the component can be powered by batteries 65 (col. 6, lines 53+).

Response to Remarks

6. Applicant's remarks filed on March 24, 2004 have been carefully considered. Examiner appreciates Applicant's effort to advance prosecution of application. Examiner also reviewed previous Office Action(s). In view of the above, this Office Action is made non-final.

Conclusion

I. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure: Hagerty (US 5,576,530); Hanson et al. (US 5,625,180) disclose a data collection system comprising scanner and interface. Applicant is respectfully suggested to carefully review 10 these references.
